AMS Device Manager: User Group

AMS Device Manager enables digital transformation by providing an application that embraces open standards that allow plant-wide visibility to a wide range of devices. It uses predictive diagnostics, configuration management, and calibration tools to aide in quickly identifying, troubleshooting, and resolving device & process issues which avoid negative impacts on daily operations.

This two-day AMS Device Manager User's Group is intended for long-time users and customers just starting with the software. It is a unique opportunity for users to share best practices and successful implementation strategies to fully leverage predictive diagnostics, configuration management, and calibration tools.

You will meet and network with fellow users and Emerson experts thru workshops and technology exhibits. You will hear case studies demonstrating how end users have improved their plant availability, reduced maintenance costs and improved safety thru the effective use of the available tools.

This event is intended for current users and customers interested in continuing their digital transformation journey. Register today for this valuable and useful event.
